

The Jewett Family of America Quarterly

October-November-December 1952

Volume 1 - Copy 1

During the past year there has been an increased interest in our family association and a much greater desire for Genealogical Data pertaining to our ancestors, therefore this little family paper, which we hope to publish quarterly. It will serve a three-fold purpose. First, to create a much closer kinship among the members and friends of the Association. Second, to attempt to increase our membership rolls and third, to give us an opportunity to publish the Genealogical data which we have collected and also to collect more. We hope that you will find favor with this project, even if it is a small paper for there is a great deal of work involved in the editing of it. Due to the tremendous cost of printing we are obliged to have the first papers mimeographed. Later, if enough interest is shown we shall attempt to have the paper printed. It is hoped that this paper will have as large a circulation as possible. If you know of any Jewetts or those descended from Jewetts interested, will you please send us their names and addresses, that we may add them to our mailing list. In order that our records may be kept up to date the Secretary should be notified at once of all births, marriages, deaths, and changes of address.

Our Genealogical data will be brought down through the different branches of the family starting where Dr. Fred Clarke Jewett left off in the Genealogy. Suggestions as to the improvement of the paper will always be welcome.

- Seventeenth Reunion of the Jewett Family -

The Seventeenth Reunion of the Jewett Family of America, Inc., was held at Dearborn Inn, Dearborn, Michigan, August 22nd, 1952. Registration and renewing of acquaintances took place in the Lobby of the Inn at 10:00 A. M. Business meeting was held at 10:45 with the President, Theo S. Jewett of Laconia, N. H. presiding. Reports of the Secretary and Treasurer read and accepted. Total membership of 159 of whom 38 are Life Members and 2 Honorary members. Twenty have held continuous membership since 1910.

A list of those sending regrets at not being able to attend was read. A letter from Mrs. Agnes Boynton of Arlington, Iowa, inviting members of the Association to attend gathering in Cedar Rapids, Iowa, on August 31st was read.

On motion made it was voted to have W. E. Jewett of Enid, Oklahoma, carry the greetings of the Jewett Family of America to that gathering.

On motion made it was voted to have Vice Presidents of States involved attend any local gatherings of Jewetts as our representative. It was suggested that all effort possible be made to increase our membership.

Letters from Clyde Jewett Skinner of Boulder, Colorado, and Caleb Jewett King of Jacksonville, Florida, were read requesting the Jewett Family of America to hold reunions in their respective cities. Matter left to the Directors after much discussion. Voted that membership list be sent to all members desiring same. After much discussion, decided to leave matter of publications with Committee on same. The President appointed as a nominating committee; Mr. E. T. Peabody, Mrs. Edna P. Jewett, Miss Dorothy E. Do you know of a relative that would like to join the Jewett Family of America? If so, why not send us their name or names.....

At the 1952 Jewett Family of America reunion held in Detroit August, 22nd, 1952, the welcoming address was given by Mr. E. T. Peabody, who is vice-president for the State of Michigan, for the Jewett Family. Mr. Lee is a nationally known speaker. He is a member of the public relations department of General Motors. He is the author of "MAN TO MAN ON THE JOB" and is an authority on good employe relations. Also, he has had wide experience in the fields of engineering, sales and industrial research. He has been a research engineer for National Cash Register, Delco Light Company, Frigidaire, General Motors, and other concerns. Mr. Lee is a man of many interests and hobbies. He held a private pilot's license for many years and has owned two planes. His log shows over 1,000 hours in the air. In addition, he is a veteran glider pilot. He is the inventor of several air navigation instruments, and is a member of the Sportsman Pilot Association. His grandfather was in the foundry business in the early days, and he now has a hobby foundry in the rear of his home at Birmingham, Michigan. His address to the Seventeenth Reunion of the Jewett Family at Dearborn was briefed as follows:

"The first reunion I attended was in 1910 at Rowley, Massachusetts. Since that time in travels about the country, San Diego, New Orleans, Middletown, Connecticut I have visited many family members, known by name only and have been courteously received and pleasantly entertained even though the relationship was as remote as thirteenth cousin. After the many visits with Jewett throughout the country, it is now a distinct pleasure to have the Jewetts visit me in the Detroit area, and at least give me the opportunity to return in kind the hospitality extended to me in the past.

As the family grows it is inevitable that it must be rejuvenated by more active participation by the younger members. We feel this is particularly appropriate now in order that the conscientious and lifelong efforts of many of our older members may be continued and passed on to other generations.

It is, therefore, sincerely recommended that we now initiate positive steps for increased membership and by so doing, encourage active participation by many Jewetts throughout the country, a great many of whom have not yet heard of the family organization. Such a membership drive can best be done on an individual basis, each of us in our own locality. With conscientious endeavor by all, we can look forward to meeting new friends and relatives at our next reunion and can enjoy together our common interest and heritage which for this group began with Maximillian and Joseph Jewett about 1630.

After my many visits with family friends about the country, I thank all you relatives for visiting me in the Detroit area and sincerely hope you will enjoy your stay and your attendance at the 1952 Family Reunion of the Jewett Family of America."

Other members of the Jewett Family of America are heartily in accord with the idea of a quarterly newspaper. From Mrs. Colin H. Durham of 12 Van Doren Avenue in Chatham, New Jersey, we have the following letter:

"A Jewett Family Pamphlet with stories of Jewetts and especially containing research about the early settlers in Mass., deeds, wills, etc. Also perhaps enough interest might induce further research of our English ancestors. Sectional meetings of luncheons. Could the Vice-Presidents of each State procure the names of his Kinsmen in his State and arrange a luncheon so that more Jewetts could get to know each other? This need not be in the summer."

Thanks, Mrs. Durham, for your suggestion. Why not each vice-president get the names of all the Jewetts in his or her state and then mimeograph a general letter and mail to every Jewett and get them together in a general meeting. You'll find enough of them that are interested in knowing their 'family tree' that will be glad to attend. Let us suggest that you go to any large city in your state and go to the telephone company in that city for they all carry all of the phone books in that state and perhaps surrounding states - spend a day copying off all of the names of the Jewetts in those books. Then send us a list of them and we'll contact them to see if they won't join the Jewett Family of America, and then they'll get the Quarterly free with their subscription or annual dues to the Jewett Family of America. Get busy all you state vice-presidents, make a list of those names and send it either to Clyde J. Skinner, 2244 Water Street, Boulder, Colorado - - or to the secretary, Mr. Everett D. Jewett at Ipswich, Mass. If we can get one thousand more members then we can afford to put out a regular printed quarterly and we will get a great deal more of the family history and then have the third volume printed and thus carry down the history to our descendants.

For the benefit of some of the members and readers it might be well to explain that the society was first formed in 1856 by members of the Jewett family in order to preserve the history of the early founders of our family. Shortly after the turn of the present century that history was printed in a two volume edition, and over ten thousand Jewetts are listed in that historical edition. Many of the families were carried down as far as they could get information on but many of the family records closed that run of the family a hundred years ago. What we want to do is to 'dig up' that forgotten history and put it in a new volume as well as the history of the Jewetts since 1900. This will take time and money. All the more reason that we enlarge the membership to two thousand if possible. There are in all probability over twenty-five to one hundred thousand descendants of the original two brothers who settled at Rowley, Mass.

Another interesting letter we have from Mr. Caleb Jewett King of Jacksonville, Fla. He also is interested in having a Quarterly published so as to gather more information on the Jewetts and their descendants. He also would like to have re-union of the family in that southern clime. Would be rather nice, wouldn't it? Go there in the winter and bask in their warm sunshine and get away from these cold northern winters.

Now, get busy, kinsmen. Get all the phone books that you can get hold of, make a list of all the kinsmen, then mail them to either the above addresses. There is no reason whatsoever but that we can double and triple the members of the Jewett Family of America, this coming year.

Here is an interesting letter from W. R. (Roy) Jewett, a new member of the Family.

"I have been asked to write an article about a Jewett reunion that my wife and I attended August 31st. It was set for Cedar Rapids, Iowa, but was changed on short notice to a state park at Strawberry Point, Iowa. It was the fourth annual picnic meeting of children and grandchildren of Wilson, son of Nathan and Eliza Jane (Ward) Jewett. A John Ward and his sister met with them, they are grandchildren of John Ward, a brother of Nathan Jewett's wife. There were fifty or sixty people at the picnic, not but myself members of the "Jewett Family". I might be able to get a few of them to join.

On the trip we also visited descendants of several other children of Nathan, living in Omaha, Nebr., Adel, Iowa, and a number of towns in Jones and Jackson counties. If any reader is wanting information about Nathan Jewett (Gen. 9) and his descendants, write to me at 1721 E. Rand, Enid, Okla., and tell what you want to know, and I will give it.

I looked in the cemetery at Indianola, Iowa, for information on a Jewett relative, but the Jewetts that I found did not appear to be related to me. Their names might be of interest to some one or some reader, so will give their names with birth and death date. In one place were: Timothy Jewett, 1819-1871, and Minnie, 1858-1872. In another place were six graves, Albert F. Jewett, 1851-1915; Mahala A. 1855-1923; George F. R. 1880-1901; A. Frank, 1886-1912; Rene Muriel, 1889-1944, and Halbeck B., 1893-1938. I would be pleased to learn that their names and dates have helped someone to learn more of their relatives.

It may be of interest and benefit to some reader to say that I have found many relatives with the help of postmasters. At three small towns where I knew there had be Jewett relatives and thought there might be some yet, I wrote a letter to an unknown relative and enclosed it in a large envelope to the postmaster, with a note to him telling what family I was wanting to contact. In all three places they knew whom to give it to and I received a reply from the relative. At other places I just asked the postmaster if he could give me the name and address of a relative. The postmasters wherever I wrote were most courteous and helpful. I also contacted one relative thru the Chamber of Commerce.

The Jewett Family of America has not heard anything from Natha Jewett descendants since 1910, and I have been trying to bring the family data up to date. I have learned a lot, but my information is still far from complete and up to date. I am a great grandson of Nathan, grandson of Abel, Nathan's first and only child, and son of Hiram, Abel's only son and first child, Abel died while in the Union Army in 1863, seven years after he was married.

Nathan Jewett had eleven children and all lived to maturity, and there are a lot of descendants; but so far as I have learned all descendants of the future by the name of Jewett will be through the two sons of Wilson. Most of the present day children are three generations removed from the name Jewett.

In closing may I take up another subject to say that before starting the assembling of family records I had been studying magic squares, and have acquired quite an extensive knowledge of them. In fact, I do not know of anyone who knows more about them than myself. If any reader is interested in the subject and can spare time for study, I would be pleased to hear from them.

W. R. (Roy) Jewett

Thanks Mr. Jewett for your interesting letter. Keep up that historical research and let's clear up the entire line of Nathan Jewett down to the last baby born or the Third Volume of the Jewett Genealogy.

- - - GENEALOGY FOR YOUR HOBBY - - -

A noted psychologist once said that every person should have a hobby to work at in their spare time. Many and most people have some hobby, and we pity the person who doesn't have some hobby to work at in their leisure hours. There are many kinds of hobbies. Most of the fishermen that I know of who have fishing for their hobby have a rule from fifty to two hundred dollars invested in their hobby in the way of rods, spinners, flies and the thousand other gadgets that go with a fisherman's kit. One lady that I knew collected many and different kinds of buttons for her hobby. She had more than five thousand different kinds of buttons. Another lady I knew collected salt and pepper shakers. She had over three hundred different kinds in her kit. Yes, as the psychologist said, "Have a hobby, it will keep you from going nuts." Another psychologist once said that if you have a hobby and work at it everlastingly, you'll go nuts anyway.

I know of no more interesting hobby to have than that of genealogy. There may be many disappointments, but in the end, if you persevere, you'll win and leave a lasting memorial to your loved ones.

Want Ads - -

This column is devoted to the members of the Jewett Family of America for their Want Ads. Is there is problem or a missing member of your family whom you would like to locate? Is there a problem that you would like to solve? Then run a small ad in this column and some one may have the very answer to your problem. It is free to the members.

Wanted: To locate some of the descendants of Etta Jewett ----, her married name is unknown. She moved to Pasadena, California and is believed to have died there. She was my aunt. Anyone having any information please write to Clyde Jewett Skinner, 2244 Water Street, Boulder, Colorado. Also would like to write and hear from any of the descendants of Deacon Noah Jewett who settled in Cornish, Maine, shortly after the Revolution.

Do you have mimeographing that you wish done? Write to the Broadcaster Advertising Service, 2244 Water Street, Boulder, Colorado for rates.

Want to become a member of the Jewett Family of America? Send in your dues to Everett D. Jewett, Ipswich, Mass. Only one dollar for a year's dues. With it you get the Family Quarterly four times each year. Also other help for you in tracing down your ancestors.

Wanted: One thousand new members to send in to the secretary for a questionnaire to be filled out by you of all of your family information available. Write to Everett D. Jewett, Ipswich, Mass. for the questionnaire. Enclose stamp.

The Irishman once remarked: "It's a fine thing to have a family tree, providin' it ain't too shady."

Perhaps you are working on another line in your family tree besides the Jewett line. If so, write to us about it. Perhaps someone else may be working along the same line. We'll make a news item of it in the first 1952 Quarterly.

If you could see your ancestors
All standing in a row,
would you be proud of them?
Or don't you really know?

Strange discoveries are sometimes made
In climbing the family tree,
Occasionally one is found in line
Who shocks his progeny.

If you could see your ancestors
All standing in a row,
Perhaps there might be one or two
You wouldn't care to know.

Now turn the question right around
And take another view,
When you shall meet your ancestors,
Will they be proud of you?

-Gen. Helper

Oh I have found that friends who live
A thousand miles away
Have added color to my life
In written words they say.

They always show more interest
Than friends along the street
Who do not know my thoughts at all
Tho many times we meet.

I've found companionship so dear
Through looked for envelopes
Containing inspiration for
My deepest dreams and hopes.

I would not trade this priceless gift
For anything on earth,
Because through correspondence
I have found what friends are worth.

In the next issue we hope to have a column for you if you are working on a genealogical line as to where you can secure valuable information. Many a time one will work for years trying to find some particular information and then can't locate it. Perhaps that very information is tucked away in some genealogical library - when only a little clue would lead the seeker to that very important piece of information.

When the Mayflower came to Plymouth Rock in 1620 there were 102 on the ship. Half of them died the first winter of sickness during that rugged winter. Their descendants run into the thousands, and they have formed a society known as the Mayflower descendants. If any of you members of the Jewett Family of America are descendants thru some other line won't you send your name and address to the secretary, Mr. Everett D. Jewett, Ipswich, Mass.

One of the tough things that every genealogists comes to in his search for family history is to come to an old bunch of photographs that have been handed down thru the generations and no one knows who they are. In almost every family line there are some old pictures that no one can name. Let me make a suggestion won't you. Get out all the old pictures that you have and have some older member of the family identify them and then write down their names of whom they are right on the back of the photograph in ink so that when they are passed on someone who received them will know who they are. And it is a pretty good habit to do that very thing with every picture that you take, write down on the back in ink when the picture was taken, of whom it is and the location. I have some pictures that were left of my mother's collection that I would give my right arm to know who they were.

Family genealogists have many problems when they begin a search in the family historians. If one has the money of course the best thing to do is to hire a professional genealogist to make the rearches. They know where best to look and they know how to find the required data with the least amount of time outlay. Of course genealogists are like any other professional people. Some work to get your money and do as little as possible and try to flatter you into giving them a little more time a little more money. They are what we might call, professional crooks, and they ought to be run out of the business. On the other hand there are genealogists who try to do a good job and they give you every cent of value for your money. The writer sent ten dollars to a genealogist in London to clear up some data and all that he did was to read for a couple of hours in a library and send the 'finding' when I could have gone into any standard reference library in America and found the same thing in a couple of hours. There are crooks and there honest people in all businesses.

Do want you to help in this Quarterly. Send us a story of your grandmother or grandfather of the Jewett line.

If you can trace your ancestors back two or three generations, remember, there are still some sets of the Jewett Family of America in the hands of the secretary and they are for sale. This is advice to you readers for the first time of the quarterly. If you want one of these sets all you have to do is to contact the secretary, Mr. Everett D. Jewett at Ipswich, Mass and you'll have the information by return mail. The writer has traced the ancestry of several people of Jewett descent who never dreamed that it could be done so easily. There are hundreds of family names that have been written into the family history, and there are many who never have had a historian. When one runs into that kind of thing it certainly is a big job to try to go back into history and find the ancestry. In all generations nearly in every family some one has written up the history but where it is hidden away is often a most perplexing problem.

If you are working on some line of your family other than the Jewett line - and when you got your work completed don't simply give or sell what you can to relatives what you can and then forget about it. See to it that the Library of Congress get two or three copies of your work. It will be catalogued and your work will be an eternal monument to your efforts and let other family genealogists of future generations have the benefit of your research. Also see to it that other genealogical societies and the large reference libraries have a copy. Of course they might not pay you anything for it, but it gives to future generations a priceless heritage.

And so - this is the last in your Quarterly. Let's make the next issue a bigger and better number. Write up a story of your Jewett grandfather or grandmother and it will be interesting reading for other people interested in the Jewett history. - And send that history or article to -

Everett D. Jewettm Ipswich, Mass.
